1. INTRODUCTION

With the increased adoption of digital payments among the customers and merchants (hereinafter referred to as customers), implementation of robust and effective policies and arrangements for resolution of customer queries, complaints and disputes are of crucial importance for sustaining the trust in payments ecosystem and also for further deepening of digital payments in the country. The overall quality of customer experience and satisfaction with service delivery and the ease of access to and effectiveness of supporting grievance redressal structures and mechanisms reflect an organization's governance standards and value systems. Therefore, customer service for any organization requires a focused engagement with the customers on an ongoing basis.

JPSL has adopted the RBI's Charter of Customer Rights as an intrinsic element in its value system which underpins the entire gamut of its customer engagement. Recognizing the right of the customers to grievance redressal and compensation, JPSL has adopted this Grievance Redressal Policy to provide a framework defining the scope, objectives, key design principles, grievance handling and resolution standards, and internal and external arrangements where the customer can seek effective recourse in the rare event of being dissatisfied with the quality of our products, services or grievance redressal actions.

JPSL believes in providing quality customer service in a friendly, efficient and helpful manner to create a delightful customer experience. For this purpose, JPSL, has put in place a centralized grievance redressal system that aims to provide satisfactory resolution of every query, request, complaint or feedback in a fair, transparent and unbiased manner. While doing so, JPSL treats the customers with complete dignity, respect and courtesy in their dealings with JPSL.

- ☐ Ensure transparent, courteous and expeditious resolution of customer issues;
- ☐ Educate the customers on alternate escalation mechanisms available to them for resolution of their complaints/issues, if they are not satisfied with JPSSL response.

4. KEY DESIGN PRINCIPLES

The grievance redressal policy of JPSSL is based on following key principles to offer a best-in- class grievance redressal experience to customers:

- ☐ Fairness: Customers are treated in a fair, transparent and unbiased manner with complete dignity, respect and courtesy at all times.
- ☐ Quality: Customer queries, requests, complaints, feedback and disputes are dealt with an open mind and in a timely manner.
- ☐ Consistency: Customers are offered a standardized experience at all times irrespective of the size and segment of customer.
- ☐ Ownership: Commitment to maintain the highest standard of conduct and professionalism in service delivery.
- ☐ Transparency: Upfront disclosure of terms and conditions, timelines, technical and quality specifications, contra-indications, pricing and charges.
- ☐ Awareness: Information about various channels available for grievance redressal and the right to approach the nodal officer and Principal Nodal Officer are made publicly available.

- Simplified Process: The grievance redressal system is designed to be customer friendly with an easy grievance tracking mechanism.
- Empowerment: Educating customers on various avenues available to them to escalate grievances, including external bodies (RBI, Banking Ombudsman and The Reserve Bank - Integrated Ombudsman).

5. GRIEVANCE HANDLING & RESOLUTION PROCESS

A. Registration and Tracking of Queries, Requests, Complaints and Feedback:

Customers can raise their queries, requests, complaints and feedback (QRCF) to JPSL for deficiency in service related to any of its payment products and services. JPSL will endeavor to provide multiple touch points for the convenience of customers to raise a QRCF. Customers can raise a QRCF either by writing a letter or through an email available on the website. An automated system acknowledges and assigns a unique tracking number to a QRCF received through electronic channels, which is shared with the customer for future reference and monitoring purposes. JPSL has put in place a dedicated and well trained help desk to handle QRCFs received from the customers. The timeframe for resolution of QRCF is communicated by the Helpdesk to the customers through available channels. QRCF is classified based on the voice of the customers.

The grievance redressal system implemented by JPSL covers various stages of transaction life cycle, different types of disputes, reason codes, process of dispute resolution, documentation required, escalation in case of unsatisfactory response, roles and responsibilities of various parties to the transaction, TAT for each stage, etc. The outcome of the grievance redressal mechanism is binding on all system participants. Customers may approach any alternative forum, including RBI or Banking Ombudsman or The Reserve Bank - Integrated Ombudsman, for redressal of grievance if not satisfied with the redressal provided by JPSL.
